Keyhole

B.D. SCHOOL SONG

The musical score is written for the oboe, featuring a squirrel character named B.D. who interacts with the music. The score consists of seven staves of music in 6/8 time, with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat). The squirrel character is depicted in various poses: crawling, standing, and sleeping. The music includes dynamic markings such as f (forte) and sfz (sforzando), and articulation marks like accents and slurs. The lyrics, which are part of the original 'The Stein Song', are written below the final staff.

Lyrics:

A $\frac{1}{2}$ IS EQUAL
TO A $\frac{1}{4}$. AND A $\frac{1}{8}$ STANDS
FOR A $\frac{1}{16}$, WHILE A $\frac{1}{32}$ IS THE SAME AS A $\frac{1}{64}$.

THE SCHOOL SONG IS AN EXCERPT FROM "THE STEIN SONG" BY COLCORD AND FENSTAD. THIS IS FROM THE ARRANGEMENT BY LESTER BROCKTON. THIS IS THE ARRANGEMENT FOR THE OBOE, NOT THE PIANO...

Love Her? Yes We Do!*

The senior building of Ben Davis High School is the center of the campus and the hub of student life.

It houses all of the things that make us loyal and true blue to our school—our classes, our friends, our activities, and our teachers.

Three Buildings Make Our School

Wayne Central

Freshmen learn to love their school when they enroll in Wayne Central, the newest of our buildings.

This is the second year that the frosh have been housed in this modern eleven room building with its green boards, huge windows, comfortable light-colored furniture, and non-squirting fountains.

Upperclassmen can keep an eye on the newcomers from the windows of the nearby senior building.

Junior Building

Back in 1934, all four grades of high school were housed in this building.

In 1953-54, the old Junior Building is filled to overflowing with only the eighth grade and the 9A's.

Wise counseling by the principal, Gordon Harker, sends these students over to either Wayne Central or the senior building with most of their high school subjects planned for four years.

All activities carried on in this building are a junior version of those in the upper grades, so that Ben Davis people really have 5 years of high school.

Here's To All The Students A Toast All Happy, Loyal, and True Blue

It is the students who make a school. Here we are, singing our school song at a pep session.

We are healthy, happy people. Most of us are neither extremely wealthy, nor extremely poor; neither extremely brilliant nor extremely stupid. We are typical middle class students who are proud of our school.

The gym is filled to overflowing when all 1650 of us get together (this includes 180 8th graders).

Above: Lunchtime should be leisurely, but ours is a time of standing in long lines and then eating in a rush.

Right: Classes take up most of our day. In health class we might sing. "Head bone's connected to the shoulder bone—shoulder bone's connected to the back bone!" That's what we learn. Mrs. Vivion Summeier, Beverly Trout and Judy Albrecht demonstrate bone connections.

Much of our social life takes place in the halls and on the stairs. We meet friends for a snatched conversation at lockers between classes; we greet passersby; we stop to drink from treacherous fountains that squirt water all over us; and we stand outside classroom doors for a last glimpse of our school world going by, before another hour of work.

Sometimes we spend so much time with friends, we have to race to our next classes. If we don't make it, we know we have to get an admit slip from the dean!

We go to roll room

Announcements, attendance taking, program planning, and business transactions are carried on in roll room.

Here Carolyn Pieper admires the new platinum graduating robe on Dolores Peasley, while Mr. Don Hansell, senior sponsor, looks on. Dolores modeled in all senior roll rooms.

We use the library

Three well-equipped libraries, directed by Mrs. Louise Williams, furnish material for reference, for book reports, and for entertainment.

In the fall, sophomores attend classes 5 days to learn how to find things in the library.

Here Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Ruth Gooch, assistant librarian, talk to a class.

We study our lessons

Three large study halls are filled every hour, and the overflow is handled in empty class rooms.

Most of the time we study quietly but the traditional note-passing goes on here, just as it did in the days of our parents.

We talk to the deans

Mrs. Helen Mercer and Mr. James Shockley are our deans. When we are late, we go to them for admit slips; when we are ill we get clinic passes or are taken home by them.

In between such routine chores, both teachers counsel us on our personal problems and offer us friendship.

Mr. Shockley and Mrs. Mercer discuss student affairs with Shirley Nachoff and Larry Flynn.

We sing happily

Everyone loves to sing. Chorus classes give us a chance to warble everything from spirituals to the blues.

On the serious side, we enter contests. This year we won many honors in state competition. And one of our thrills was putting on the annual operetta which was Tune-In this year.

Mr. Roderick takes a tape recording of one of his chorus classes' singing.

We publish a newspaper and annual

Room 206 is like a circus, with newspaper and annual staffs mixed in with beginning journalism classes.

Publication work keeps us on a merry-go-round; deadlines to meet, pages to fill, money to make, proofs to read, information to gather —busy every minute.

Ronnie Utterback checks over a copy of the Spotlight while Mrs. Kathleen Keilman hands Loretta Vornehm, beginning journalism student, her notebook.

Upper Left: Dwight Abbott and Blanchard Smith, winners of speech contest on "I Speak for Democracy" and "The Constitution."

Upper Right: Elizabeth Crider, biology teacher, worked with James Langhammer for four years. Jim, a brilliant young scientist was one of 17 who won honors in the 7th state science talent search sponsored by Purdue University and the Indianapolis Times. He also is winner of State Science Talent, National Science Talent Search. Scholarships from colleges all over the country were made available to him. He had taken his interview for the coveted Rector Scholarship to DePouw at the time this was written.

Lower Left: Jack Jester and Carolyn Byrkett were two of the early scholarship winners, whose notifications came in time to make the yearbook. Jack received a $1,000 four year scholarship to Indiana State Teachers' College. Carolyn was notified of a scholarship to Hanover College.

Lower Right: Journalism awards were known by the sponsor long before Honor Day, and therefore "made the book." Carolyn Byrkett, co-editor of the yearbook, and Richard Knarr, three years cartoonist for both the paper and the annual, received the Merle Sidener awards for outstanding journalists, Phyllis Poe, co-editor of the Keyhole, the Quill and Scroll Medol, and Joan Bathwell, in her third year on the annual staff, the Herff-Jones Medal.

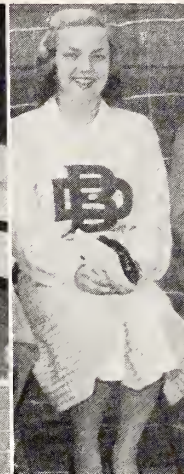

We win scholarships and honors

Unfortunately, scholarships come too late in the season to make the March deadline for the Keyhole. At the time the book went to press, nine people had passed tests and were being processed by Indiana colleges as having sufficient achievement to warrant consideration. Only two, Jack Jester and Lynda Fuller, had been definitely notified.

Joan Ryan passed the test for Butler, Shirley Williams, Jim Langhammer, Lynda Fuller, and Joan Karl for Indiana University, Carolyn Byrkett for Hanover, Dwight Abbott and Bill Roach for Purdue, and Nancy Falconbury for Anderson College.

Barbara Dreyer was selected by students and teachers to represent the school as the DAR Good Citizen.

(1953 Prom)

Several of our students are kings and queens

Although they are not kings or queens, the people who help provide funds for various projects are a necessary part of extra-curricular activities.

On the left, girls sell candy at noon. Formerly given the junior class for the prom, this year the money went wherever an emergency fund was needed.

At the right, Don Miles and Joan Bothwell, king and queen of the sales division who, between them sold nearly $600 worth of ads for the Keyhole. Don also sold over $600 in ads for the Spotlight.

Our Teachers Have Two Personalities

They can be good sports . . .

Don Hansell, Leon Redenbacher, Bob Wilbur, Woodrow Baker, and Richard Meyer take some fancy poses in last year's faculty - varsity game.

This year's game came after printer's deadline.

. . . or they can be good advisers

Once a year our faculty and the varsity team tangle in a hilarious basketball game. It usually comes some time after the sectionals are over, when the boys are relaxed.

Oddly enough, the varsity usually wins! This is one time we can safely laugh at our faculty.

Genial Bill Girton, registrar and vice-principal and head of Wayne Central, is always handy to give advice on program cards and class schedules. During the first few weeks of school, he operates in the senior building; the rest of the school year he works in his attractive office in Wayne Central.

Jackie Asdale and Gail Gibb, office helpers, get instructions for work on registration cards from Mr. Girton.

We Enjoy Evening Activities

We dance in our socks

In 1954, the Bunny Hop, an old time favorite, was revived and we danced it at all our informal parties.

The boy with two left feet and the girl who usually spent her time on the side-lines enjoyed this dance thoroughly.

We get help from Parent-Teachers

Parent-Teachers' Association gives one money making project a year—the Fall Festival.

The money they earn from entertaining us, comes back to us in the form of gifts. One year it was a school camera; last year, lights for the dim stairways in the gym. Also, the organization pays for the office telephone.

We see plays

During the year we get to see several plays put on by the Dramatic Club, their honor members, the Thespians, and the seniors.

One of the most impressive this year was the production of "The Robe," a beautiful story of the early Christians.

Top: Sock hops after the games made the Bunny Hop popular with those fans who stayed to celebrate.

Middle: The flower booth at the Fall Festival was a crowded corner most of the time.

Lower: The cast of "The Robe" were still in the mood of the play when they took their places for a picture.

Some Activities

Seniors anticipate the Junior Prom

All year the seniors look forward to that night in spring when they will be entertained by the juniors.

Money for the prom is earned from projects such as skating parties, and selling hats at athletic games.

Decorations are always very elaborate and take weeks of careful planning and work.

Last year's prom has to be included in this year's annual because of the early deadline. Here we see decoration committee members transforming the gym into a Dutch garden.

The 1954 prom marks another of the many changes made this year. For the first time we held it at the Indiana Roof ballroom.

Latins imitate old Roman customs

Jim Hutchison and John Keen gaze at Nero (Larry Axsom) while Lorinda Heaton and Ann Bowman recline at the table in the Casa Maria.

Latin Club is a powerful influence in our school. As nearly as possible its members recreate conditions in the times of ancient Rome.

The annual banquet is one of the most elaborate affairs of the season.

Are Annual Affairs

Another dance revival in 1954 was the Charleston. Actors in the Dramatic Club's vaudeville given at the Fall Festival, brought back the days of short skirts, cover-up bathing suits, and ukeleles.

Barbara McGuire, Pat Pedlow, Shirley Brown, Carol Meyer, and Carolyn Byrnett laughed at John Verhonik in an old time bathing suit when he appeared in one of the skits.

Classes have parties

Sophomores don't go in for elaborate decorations at their annual party. They usually just dance and have refreshments.

The Freshman Party is one of the most anticipated events in the lives of our new students.

Last year's theme was "Strictly U.S.A." This year, the gym floor was transformed into a circus with a miniature merry-go-round in the center and various booths around the side.

Coke bottles flying and eyes popping, this is a familiar scene at a freshman party.

Here in the Ag room, a few students are enjoying relief time (from the fun, that is!)

Don Poole, Patty Cafouras, Mr. Trent Gipson, sponsor, Sue Ella Gray, John Hingle and Pat Kielhorn meet to discuss the sophomore party.

May We Ever Love Her Cherish and Be True

We have many interests at school

A school is more than the day bounded by 7:45 in the morning and 2:30 in the afternoon.

A school is also all the outside activities that involve its students and take place in its building. The life of a building usually doesn't end until late at night.

Twice a year, our parents, our athletes, and our team boosters gather in the evening to eat a pitch-in supper, hear a good speaker, and watch the boys get their athletic awards.

Wayne Fuson of the Indianapolis News spoke at the football and cross country dinner and Coach Harry Combes of the University of Illinois addressed the basketball and wrestling dinner guests.

Parents, students and teachers mingle at the serving tables.

. . . and enjoy preparing for them

Getting decorations made for dances is almost more fun than the final event. We, at Ben Davis, have a reputation for elaborate and beautiful effects. Last year's prom theme was "Tulip Time."

Before and after school proud car owners compare additions and subtractions to their automobiles. Besides standing the inspection of fellow classmates, the cars must be gone over by state police once a year.

Gasoline Alley is our pride

Since we are a rural school, the drive around the senior building is usually lined solid with cars. This year the parking situation is getting as desperate as the crowded buildings.

We are proud of our cars. We dress them up with spots, duals, skirts and sun visors of all kinds. Cans are put on tail pipes to make the duals sound louder.

Some cars are customized. Trunk lids and hoods are shaved. Some are lowered and souped up. When we get through we proudly compare results.

"Gasoline Alley," a regular full length column in our newspaper, is devoted to Ben Davis automobiles.

Getting a letter for an athletic sweater is an exceedingly important event for those of us who take part in sports.

John Stiff thought he'd sew on his own letter, but is having difficulty threading the needle.

A mixture of many things makes us love our school

Every Class Cherished

We start four years

Wayne Central freshmen get a taste of senior building life when they commute between buildings for convocations and such subjects as home economics, art, and shop. These days as members of the two buildings that are the center of our campus, are exciting and long to be remembered.

We end four years

Four years ago, approximately 400 students enrolled as freshmen in B.D.H.S. It was an exciting year for us. We selected our first class officers, John Verhanik, Shirley Jackson, Carolyn Fogleman and Dwight Abbott; attended our first formal dance; had our own "Goy Nineties" freshmen party; and relived Caesar's death at the Ramon Bonquet sponsored by our Latin Club.

As fresh sophomores, we were awed by the great size of the senior building, but we soon adjusted ourselves. The mystery of the combinations on our new lockers was soon solved by most of us but not soon forgotten. Amid all the confusion, we elected our sophomore officers, John Verhanik, Shirley Jackson, Pat Von Strahe and Floyd Brunes, and planned our class party.

We were very busy juniors. Many dances filled our schedule, but the most important one for us was the junior-senior prom. After much deliberation, we selected "Tulip Time" as the theme of our dance. We ordered senior rings and pins so we could receive them early in our senior year, and we elected our class officers, Floyd Brunes, Louise Ritter, Pat Von Strohe and Dick Wilson.

We were the first graduating class to receive our diplomas from our new principal, Mr. Modisan Shadley. We went to the Baccalaureate and graduating services in platinum colored robes.

After many years of campaigning to have the prom at the Indiano Roof, we were finally successful in 1954.

We were the first seniors to elect members to a student council, and we also elected class officers, Floyd Brunes, Pat Von Strohe, John Verhanik and Barbara Dreyer.

Shirley Heath, Dwight Abbott and Carolyn Cole discuss graduation as they hold their senior roses.

Special Memories

Some things we will always remember

Every class has its special memories. For some it is merely the trudging back and forth between buildings, greeting friends along the way, and feeling the excitement of being a part of a large high school.

For those in the junior building it is the experience of having a new teacher for every class and of going from room to room, as classes change.

Juniors have their most exciting moment when they select rings from Herff-Jones in anticipation of getting to wear them their entire senior year.

Seniors face that nostalgic day when, hour after hour, they practice for that "last mile" they will walk to get their diplomas on commencement night.

Lively youngsters in the Junior Building thoroughly enjoy the new freedom they enjoy in passing through the halls.

Seniors' emotions are mixed as they practice walking to slow music. They feel sad and glad, not knowing whether to laugh or cry as their school life draws to a close.

When word goes out that John Marshall of Herff-Jones will bring his ring samples to school, juniors begin to get excited.

Samples are chosen, selections made, and orders taken in the spring. Delivery of the senior jewelry is made at the start of the senior year.

Mr. Marshall, Mr. Bill Roderick, Fred Stegemoller and Jo Ellen Neely admire samples.

All of Us Enjoy Dances

Upper Left: Shoes are discarded when dancers get on the gym floor for dancing before school, or for sock hops.

Upper Right: Our gym is huge when it is empty but seems small when filled with couples.

We have fun decorating the gym

We like dances and we have many of them. They range from sock hops after games to beautiful formal affairs.

Decorations are often elaborate. Special themes this year were the Thespian Alumni Ballet In Blue and the Sunshine Society's Neptune's Kingdom.

Juniors felt lost without weeks of planning for a prom. Celebrating it at the Indiana Roof's ballroom relieved them of worry over decorations.

But whether it is dancing amidst the swirl of lovely evening dresses, or sitting on the floor in jeans, watching the Hillbilly Hop floor show, we count these dances as something else to make us love Ben Davis.

Whether Dressed In Formals or Jeans

We dance in formals . . .

Every year, active members of the Thespian and Dramatic Club greet their alumni members at a formal dance.

Some of their skill in designing stage sets is carried over into plans for transforming the gym into a beautiful setting.

This year the theme was "Ballet in Blue." Blue streamers with either silver slippers or half moons on the end hung from the rafters. Life size mannequins added a fantastic touch to the scene.

. . . and in jeans

Once a year, the school turns out in jeans and Hill-billy clothes to help the publications staff make money for the school annual.

Don Hansell's orchestra provided the music this year.

Here's To Old Ben Davis, We Are All For You, Rah! Rah!

A school is many things . . . students . . . buildings . . . teachers . . . chorus classes singing . . . the sound of basketballs hitting the backboard during after school practice . . . the dusty smell of chalk in the classrooms . . . lockers spilling their mementoes into the halls . . . food odors rising through the building beginning at 10 a.m. . . . a sudden burst of laughter from behind a closed door . . . warning bells saving a student without a lesson . . . convocations and student plays . . . busses lined up outside waiting to be filled with homeward bound people.

All these things and many more make a school. And the scenes that follow are part of the reason we sing "Here's to Old Ben Davis — we are all for you."

Ben Davis High School has grown amazingly since 1934. From one small building containing 12 rooms, it has expanded to three with a total of 65 rooms.

In 1954, just 20 years later, architects are drawing up plans for an addition to the senior building. Already more space is needed, although it has been only two years since Wayne Central was built.

One reason for the phenomenal growth is the fact that Indianapolis residents are moving into the suburbs.

Suburban shopping centers provide all of the necessities, and a family can have city conveniences with the healthful atmosphere of the country.

Busses bring us to school and take us home again

Every morning and every night, familiar yellow busses bring us to school and carry us home at night.

It takes 17 regular school busses and 2 rented from the transit company to see that we get to school and home again every day.

This is just one half of one side of the huge gym in the center of our senior building. Imagine five times this number of students and you have a better picture of the people who sing the school song and mean every word of it.

Our day is spent with classmates and teachers

If teachers had time to relax as this picture indicates, they would have a good place for it. Among the conveniences in the new Wayne Central building, is an attractive lounge for the faculty.

A more truthful picture would have shown Mrs. Wilma Jay, Mrs. Elizabeth Crider and Mr. Bill Roderick seated at the long study table, busily correcting papers in their free period.

We Show An Interest In Classes

A few students think we should do away with studies and have only extra-curricular activities!

But most of us realize that class work prepares us to take our places in a fiercely competitive world.

And so we take the things we must and the things we like. We have our choice of four curriculae — college entrance, general academic, vocational and commerce.

When we have completed the required subjects, we can elect certain courses that give us credits and appeal to us.

Future housewives learn to cook

Home Ec classes learn the best methods of cooking, how to plan nutritious meals, how to purchase food, and how to entertain graciously.

Barbara Westenbarger, Mrs. Martha Welch, and Joan Gilmore, set a table that is correct in every detail.

Ruth Ann Schuh, Tom Gilmore, Dwight Abbott, Virginia Dix, Chester Freeland, Janet Keister, Tom Kepler and Ruth Ann Bartholomew discuss specimens they have collected.

Agriculture students become expert judges of vegetables. They also learn to recognize and name insects they will encounter in their work on the farm.

Judging teams enter contests at the State Fair and at Purdue University. This year, as in the past, they won an all-expense trip to the national vegetable judging contest at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Art . . .

The art department is indispensable to the school. Whenever a play is scheduled, a dance planned, or advertising needed, a messenger is immediately sent to see Mrs. Faye Nelson, head of the department.

In between chores for others, members of the classes work on tooled leather articles, paint posters for contests, work in oils on picture making, and learn all the fundamentals of design.

Jone Holdeman paints in oils while Barbara Ristow and Jerry Gillespie work on leather.

Publications . . .

Working on the Keyhole is done, not for credit, but for love. Members of the staff work steadily every 7th period all year, and put in long hours after school to complete an annual that costs $4.50 and is sold for only $3.

Beside the tremendous task of writing, picture taking and cropping, and many other details, the staff dreams up such projects as selling flowers and ads, publishing a directory, delivering valentines and giving a dance.

We Take These Things

Religion . . .

Bible literature is another course we take because we want to, not because it is required. In it we learn the story of the Bible, the history of its people, and the religious significance of its teachings.

We learn the beautiful verses by heart. Bible times seem more real to us since our teacher has actually visited the scenes of many of its events.

Choir . . .

Membership in the Purpleaires was increased from 32 to 50 this year by Mr. Bill Roderick, in his first year as choral director.

This select group of the best singers from all choruses is known city-wide and makes many guest appearances. This year they traveled as far as Terre Haute where they gave a 40 minute program at Indiana State Teachers College.

Journalism . . .

Spotlight staff members get credit for the semester but must make a B average in beginning journalism to get on. In one frantic semester they learn to meet deadlines, gather and edit information, sell papers and ads, and cooperate with one another. By the end of the year they had sold 17,000 papers and paid $1870 to have them printed.

First semester staff: Back row—Bill Biers, Don Miles, John Verthonik, Carl Hatch, Shirley Brown, and Pat Bly.

Boys' gym classes go in heavily for sports, although calisthenics, mat work and rope climbing are included in the course. Since we have only one gym, a sliding wall serves to divide the girls' section from the boys'.

Softball, dodge ball, volleyball, basketball, football, medicine ball, and baseball are some of the sports played in gym period.

For Optional Credits

More journalism . . .

Every semester a new staff is plunged into the excitement of publishing a newspaper. For 18 weeks they rule Room 206 during 5th period, a period from which the teacher emerges somewhat limply.

More gym . . .

Girls also played games—volley ball, basketball, soccer and softball. But they enjoyed the square and social dancing most.

Round Robin and elimination tournaments in basketball added to the girls' interest in gym.

ROTC Gives An Army Foretaste

Added – the feminine touch

A feminine touch was added to a strictly masculine organization this year. Five attractive girls were elected to review the R.O.T.C. squads every Friday morning, one girl for each class.

Four, Judy Albrecht, Reba Comer, Carol Meyer, and Pat Pedlow, have the rank of captain.

Carolyn Byrnett, as the colonel, sat beside the reviewing officers in the spring when the R.O.T.C. was rated by army officials.

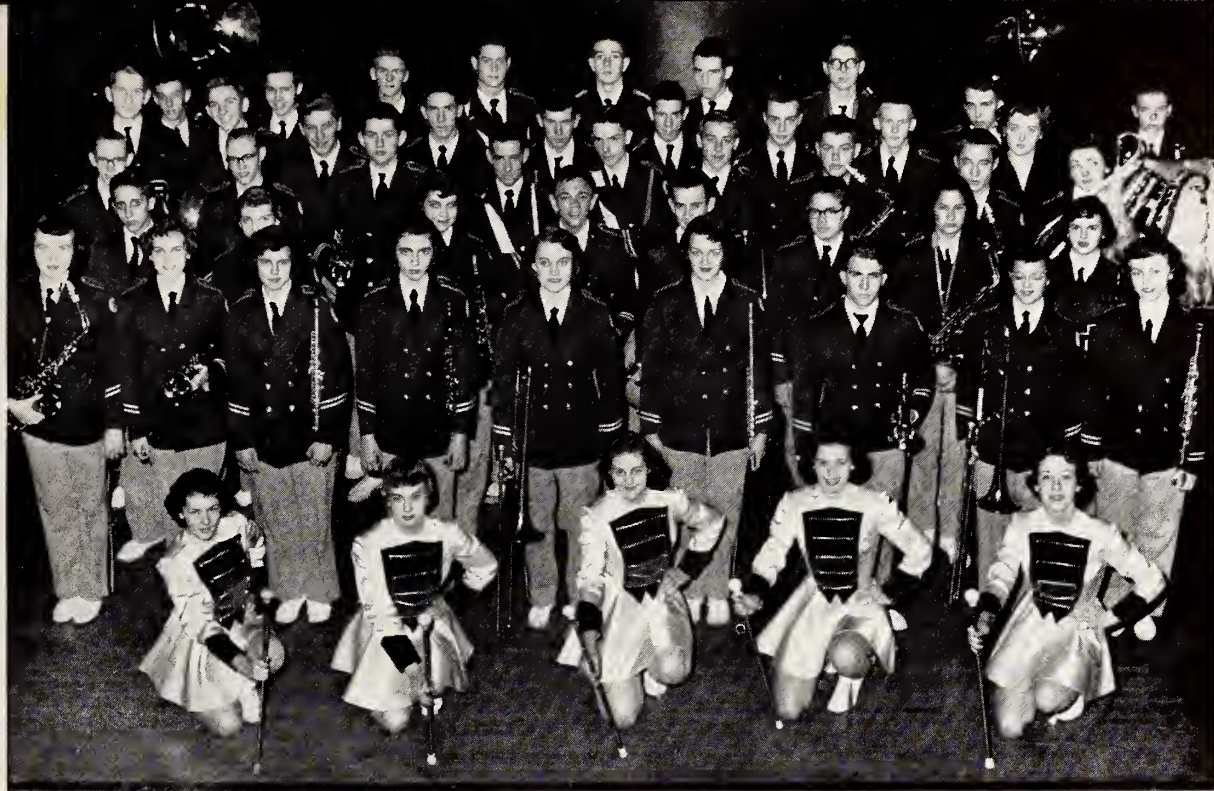

R.O.T.C. boys go to class every day to learn army regulations and customs and to practice army drills. They also perform such school services as raising the flag every morning, directing traffic and serving as a color guard at ball games, and patrolling the basketball floor at intermission.

ROTC helps the Legion

American Legion's Wayne Post 64 is closely concerned in Ben Davis High School's affairs. When the officers of the post directed the flag raising ceremony at the new Tyndall Towne No. 3 grade school, our R.O.T.C. boys assisted them.

William Girton, vice principal, and John Lawler, post commander, hand the new flag to Paul Fitch, principal of Tyndall Towne School, and Parker Dunn, Wayne Township Trustee, while R.O.T.C. boys stand at attention.

Band members are colorful entertainers

During half time at basketball and football games, and at special occasions, the Ben Davis marching band furnishes entertainment and musical programs. This year the band wore new plumed hats and epaulettes.

We All Take These Courses

Speech . . .

We learn poise in both our conversation and manners in speech classes. Courtesy, parliamentary law, different types of speeches, and interpretation of poetry are some of the subjects we study.

Final exam for Speech I consisted of giving a 10 minute reading.

Charles Limpus took his turn to stand before the class and demonstrate some of the things he had learned.

Out of chemistry classes come explosions, geniuses and weird concoctions. Exhibits for the Science Fair were the biggest project of the year.

Jim Langhamer, a potential genius in scientific research, works on an experiment in the foreground. Larry Axson smiles at the camera and Larry Jayne and Pat Bly work on an experiment together.

Math . . .

Figures, protractors, angles, rules, and pencils were the instruments necessary to get our math lessons. Miss Nina Martin, head of the math department, held forth in Room 204 on the subjects of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry.

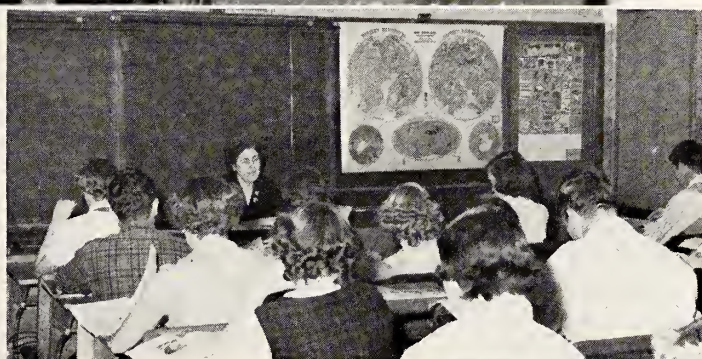

To Prepare Us for the Future

Latin . . .

Left—In language classes we learned the customs of other lands, while getting acquainted with their way of speaking.

We located their countries on the map and better understood our world neighbors after work in Latin and in Spanish.

Mrs. Esther Steindorf locates Italy on the map for Donald Hort and Mortho McCleerey.

History . . .

Above—Even while we were studying it, history was being made in the world of 1953-54.

Learning about the past, we were better able to understand the present.

We appreciate our great country more fully and realize the advantages of a democracy after taking civics. Our Quiz-Em-on-the-Air team won its first round with Sacred Heart, in a test of information on current events, but lost to Shortridge the second time up.

Miss Olive Corruthers, history department head, conducts a class.

Typing . . .

Typing is not a required subject but it is a very popular one. So much so that a ruling was made that shorthand must be combined with typing, which eliminates learning the subject for personal use.

Equipment is kept in good condition and machines exchanged for new ones every three years. Two new electromatic typewriters are the latest addition.

Mrs. Floro Foust drills a class in typing.

We Are Loyal, True Blue To Our Teams

Sports play an important part in our lives at Ben Davis. In fact, a new and much larger trophy case is being built in the hall to accommodate the awards we hope to add each year.

The spring season of 1953 brought county trophies in track and baseball.

In the fall we won in cross country. Basketball and football failed to get honors this year and track had not been decided at the time the book went to press.

Fred Stegemoller, Ben Davis forward, jumps high as he lays up two points against Howe. He is guarded by Bill Walton. Watching the action are Jim Stephens (11), Bob Clubb (22), and Don Rees. Howe won 66-64.

Row 3—Caach Baker, Stegemaller, Gearisan, Hill, Atwell, McQuinn, Elsan, Pfeifer, Wilsan, Stevens, Barrett, and Fuller.

Freshmen and reserves were successful

Coached by Woodrow Baker, who replaced the popular Jerry DeWitt, the frosh coasted to a 4-2-1 record for the season.

Although the whole squad played well, Truman Evans, Richard Hill, Harold Craig, and Ronald Gearison were perhaps the most outstanding players. Hill, an end, was the team's leading scorer.

Many of these boys are expected to make up the nucleus of Trent Gipson's reserve team next year.

Hingle and King led reserves

Under the guidance of Trent Gipson, the reserve squad climaxed their season with a 5-3 won-lost record.

They scored victories over Southport, Warren Central, Decatur Central, Manual, and Bloomington sub-varsity teams. Three losses came at the hands of Howe, Washington, and Shortridge.

John Hingle and Ed King were the leading scorers. Other outstanding performers were Larry Axsom, Earl Mooreland, Bob Booher, Tom Gilmore, and Ronald Froderman.

Football Team Broke Even In '53

The Marion County Football Jamboree, held at C.Y.O. Stadium, inaugurated the 1953 football season. Ben Davis and seven other schools participated.

Things really got under way when Ben Davis smashed Decatur Central 25-0 in the opener.

Two losses to Southport and Warren Central followed that first triumph. Southport beat us 13-7 and Warren edged the Giants 7 to 6 as the grid men were within the Warrior's 5-yard line three times, but unable to score.

After the defeats came a rousing 32-7 victory over Pike Township as end Dick Wilson scored 5 touchdowns. Two straight setbacks at the hands of Shortridge and Sacred Heart followed.

The campaign came to a startling climax when the Giants overwhelmed Manual 20-6, and conquered undefeated Washington by the same count.

We are very proud that John Verhonik, Paul Burkert, and Dick Wilson were selected to the All-County squad.

SECTIONALS

54 Crispus Attucks 86

Trent Gipson escorts Fred Stegemoller, "Miss Victory," down the aisle in a pep session preceding the Sectionals.

Jim Stephens, junior forward, fights hard for a rebound with Howe players Ronnie Fox and Don Rees. Ed Weil and Tom Kepler of Ben Davis look on.

Eddie Weil, senior guard and city-county scoring champ, takes off for one of his favorite running, jump shots. Three Howe players watch as Eddie lingers in the air.

Clayton win ended "so-so" season

Led by city-county scoring champ, Eddie Weil, our Giants finished the 1953-54 basketball campaign with a 12-10 standard.

Coached by John Masariu, first year mentor who led the frosh to four straight county titles, the mighty Ben Davis scoring machine overpowered such foes as Washington, Southport, Warren Central, Franklin Township, and Decatur Central.

Of the ten defeats incurred upon the Giants, six contests were decided by a margin of three points or less.

Some of the most thrilling games were with Warren Central, Cathedral, Washington, Howe, Southport, and Sacred Heart.

The annual county tourney was very disheartening. After easily defeating Franklin Township and Pike Township, the Giant five ran into a red-hot Warren Central squad and were dethroned as the champions of Marion County, 67-52.

Weil, of course, led the Giants in scoring as he did all other city and county shooters with a record 459 points in 21 games for a 21.9 average. This total surpassed Hallie Bryant's all-time mark of 417 by 42 points.

Eddie hit for high totals in several encounters. Against Southport on the home court he accumulated 36 markers to set a new all-time county record for one game and also a new high school record for one contest. He also gathered 31 against Warren Central, 34 against Franklin Township, and 32 in the finale with Clayton.

We were very glad that Eddie was selected to the all-county team and nominated to the "select one hundred" group from which the 1954 Indiana All-Stars were chosen.

Tom Kepler and Weil were the lone seniors on the squad. The remainder of the team was composed of seven juniors and three sophs.

Meranda and Poole paced reserve squad

Ben Davis reserves broke even in twenty games for a 10-10 standard.

Under the watchful eyes of Trent Gipson, the reserves twice defeated Decatur Central 51-19 and 50-19 in their three meetings. They also defeated Warren Central, Franklin Township, Brownsburg, Cathedral, and Southport. The only overtime all year was lost to Clayton 27-24 in the finale.

Marvin Meranda and Don Poole were the heavy guns on the squad before they were moved up to the varsity, then the scoring and rebounding load was passed off to Jim Henderson, Charles Kinkead, and Ronnie Atwell, a freshman,

New coach guided frosh to 12 wins

Howard Williams, successor to John Masariu, didn't win a fifth straight county championship for the frosh, but he did win 12 games while losing only 5.

Cathedral, Martinsville, Howe, Washington, and Sacred Heart frosh fives went down before the little Giants. Williams' kids also beat the Franklin Township freshmen 64-19.

Larry Fields and Ronnie Atwell were the high point men and Richard Hill took care of the rebounding chores. Truman Evans, Mike Foxworthy, Jon Jacobson, and Norman Wilson were other mentionable players.

Giants Captured '53 Baseball Title

Jim Gibson practices a slide into third base as Bill Uhrig covers the bag.

Behind the brilliant two hit pitching of Larry Shatts, the 1953 baseball team, coached by Robert Cloyd, beat defending champions Decatur Central for the Marion County baseball championship.

Loaded with underclassmen, the diamond men had a very successful season and looked forward to the next year with high hopes.

The team was strong in the outfield, infield, and the pitching staff was more than capable. Bob Duling, the catcher, also did a fine job holding down our mound men.

Seniors graduating were Bob Wilbur, Prentiss Eastham, Bob Duling, and Wayne Dell.

Too late

Because the annual goes to press the first of April, the 1954 track season was just beginning at that time and it will be reported in the 1955
Keyhole.

Tracksters won third county title

The Ben Davis track team of 1953 ended Warren Central's long reign of track county championships. This was the first county track title brought to Ben Davis since 1943.

Leading the thinlies were Bob Mock and Ronald Utterback. Mock broke the record in the 440 yard dash with a 52.3 sprint. Utterback won the high hurdles with a record tying mark. He also placed second in the low hurdles. Mock anchored the mile relay team which placed first.

Coach Lou Parnell, in his fifth year as track coach, was runner-up three times and finally came through with an upset victory over the favorite Warren team.

Bob Mock displays championship form as he wins the low hurdles in a track meet at Tech last year.

Hansell teaches

Coach Don Hansell demonstrates the proper use of the putter to golf enthusiasts David Turk, Carl Hatch, Ronald Atwell, Bob Crouch, John Harlan, Bob McFarling, John Sawyers, Gene Blythe, Dick Poe, Ronald Callahan, and Harley Hassel.

Golfers played tough schedule

Ben Davis' golf team, coached by Donald Hansell, had a fairly successful season last year and hoped to do much better this spring.

Fourteen boys answered the first call. Coach Hansell planned to play every boy in at least one match. This year's schedule consisted of eight matches with tough competition. The team also participated in the county tournament and the sectionals.

Gene Blythe, John Sawyers, John Harlan, and Ron Atwell were among the boys on the first team.

Hill and Dale boys won second straight title

Under the direction of Paul Ritterskamp, the Ben Davis cross country team won the county championship for the second straight year.

Our long-winded boys were paced by Bob Boruff, Larry Jayne, Kenneth Worley, Bob Stamm, and Jack Jester. Only Boruff and Worley will return to action next fall.

Since this was only Mr. Ritterskamp's second year as cross country coach, he is to be congratulated for bringing us two cross country trophies.

Grapplers and keglers also participated

The wrestling and bowling teams were also important after school sports.

Our keglers, approximately 40 in number, gathered at the Speedway Alleys every Wednesday afternoon for a session of bowling and some very respectable scores were posted by both boys and girls. Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, for the second year, was the sponsor and statistician.

Lou Parnell led the wrestlers for the fourth year to a successful season. They won ten matches while losing only four. The varsity team also placed fifth in the sectional at Bloomington.

Cheerleaders Support Our Teams

Elected at convo by student vote

In the spring of '53 we elected five cheerleaders by student vote, after tryouts at a convocation. Louise Ritter and Geraldine Hingle were the only ones with previous experience.

Every day at roll room time these people practiced faithfully in the gym, trying out new and clever stunts to entertain at games.

Nancy Reed, reserve cheerleader, was assisted by members of the varsity squad. Patsy Petzhold and Bernadine Woodward, also reserve cheerleaders, were not able to complete the season.

G.A.A. officers for the school year were: Shirley Masan, paint-secretary; Sue Anderson, president; and Sandra Merz, secretary-treasurer.

Girls also participated in sports activities

"Honor the game thou playest, for he who playeth the game straight and hard, wins even when he loses."

These opening lines from "The Code of a Good Sport" illustrate the goal of the Girls' Athletic Association.

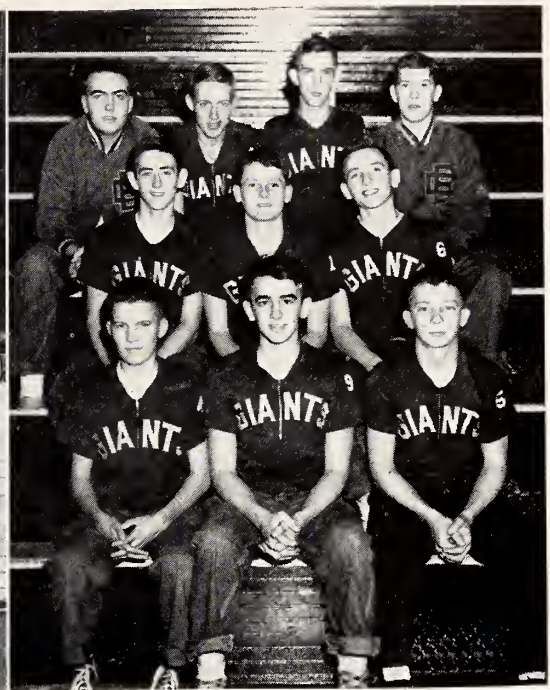

G.A.A. activities vary with the season, but always the spirit is the same. Whether it's soccer during the fall or softball in the spring, "the games the thing." The girls are out for a good time, and win or lose, it is enjoyed by all.

Awards in the form of letters were presented to G.A.A. girls for the first time this year. Sue Anderson, president of the local group, earned the state award.

Coaches

Row 1—John Masariu, varsity basketball, ass't football, reserve baseball; Lou Parnell, varsity football, wrestling, track; Paul Ritterskamp, cross country, ass't track; and Donald Hansell, golf. Row 2—Robert Cloyd, varsity baseball; Howard Wood, athletic director; Woodrow Baker, freshman football; and Howard Williams, freshman basketball, freshman track.

Careful Planning Produced Results

Ben Davis athletic teams were fortunate to have such skilled men as their leaders.

Their hard work carried our boys into successful seasons in almost every sport. With their brains behind Ben Davis Giants, these men have placed Ben Davis at the top of the Marion County sports program.

Behind the scenes the seldom recognized student managers worked many hard, long hours after school taking care of the athletic equipment, sweeping and mopping floors, and easing athletes' sore muscles and taping ankles. They certainly deserve praise for jobs well done.

Frosh cheerleaders

Freshmen athletic teams were backed by cheerleaders Laura McMahan, Nancy McNaughton, Laverne Norris, and Romilda England.

Maintenance . . .

We Enjoy Many Special Services

Stagehands are an important part of a play; maintenance people are essential in the drama of our school life.

After we are through for the day, their life begins. All the carelessly thrown paper wads must be swept up, the scribbled on boards cleaned, the cluttered desks straightened.

Faucets must be fixed, lights replaced, heat kept up.

In our cafeteria, the cooks do an unusually good job. The variety of food and its tastiness will be one of our cherished memories in years to come.

Miss Mildred Senour, manager, makes the lunchroom a pleasant place, with attractive seasonal decorations and flowers. Monthly suggestion contests increase the efficiency of her department.

In our offices, our clinics, and our libraries, maintenance jobs are taken by service-minded students who relieve busy teachers of many details.

Two of the cooks who have been with us for a long time are Mrs. Mary Landrigan, 8 years, and Mrs. Mary Ramey, 11 years.

College night was one of the many new things that happened to us this year.

Representatives from Anderson, Ball State, Butler, DePauw, Earlham, Franklin, Hanover, Indiana Central, Indiana University, Marion College, Purdue, Rose Poly, and Wabash met parents and students, February 8, to talk over college entrance requirements.

Talks were also given by Maj. Wayne E. Rhodes of Indiana State Selective Service Headquarters, Charles E. Harrell, Registrar of I.U., and Kenneth Cleveland, Director of Admissions, Franklin College.

Arrangements were made by Mr. Richard Apple. This is his first year as student counselor at Ben Davis.

Anytime during the school day when we need an aspirin to curb our headaches, a band-aid to protect a small cut, or anything else in the way of medical help, we can depend upon the clinic girls to help us.

They also keep the clinic bed neat and clean, and report any serious illnesses to Mrs. Helen Mercer.

Of Busy School Administrators

Senior office

One of the many special services is that of being an office girl. We are selected by our shorthand teacher and referred to Mrs. Jesse Kirk, commerce department head, in our junior year to help in the senior office.

We help Mrs. Alice Harker with all the numerous duties that need to be done to keep the office running smoothly. We file cards, type letters, type permanent record cards, type report cards, and answer the telephone, which is usually a job within itself. We also run errands, and greet visitors who come to visit our school.

Ben Davis has an unusually well-equipped senior library containing around 4000 books. Three adult librarians and 41 students carry on the work of providing for the needs of reference and entertainment reading.

Student librarians relieve the adults of many detailed tasks. They check books in and out, mend them, and straighten shelves. Also they file pamphlets, bind magazines, and keep various files and card catalogues. A record is kept of all student reading.

Frosh Library

The library in Wayne Central is a sunny place with light furniture and comfortable tables.

Over 1,000 volumes are on the shelves of this and the junior building library. This involves a great deal of work in filing, mending and classifying. Student helpers relieve Mrs. Helen Wampler so she can assist Wayne Centralites in their reference problems.

Stanley Stroy, Bill Norris, Cecil Motley, and Ronnie Symonds study at one of the attractive tables.

We Have Fun At Club Meetings

Pete Davis, a new Thespian, bows to Dwight Abbott and JoEllen Neeley, a traditional custom for the week following initiation.

Many things, impossible to teach during limited class periods, can be gone into more thoroughly at club meetings connected with the subjects.

Math has its Trialge Club; Latin, its SPQR; journalism, Quill and Scroll; speech, Thespians, and other organizations such as the Spanish, Boosters, Sunshine Society, and Hi-Y have self explanatory names. In all, we have 11 such clubs in the school.

Meetings are held either after school or at night. Initiations range from elaborate, formal affairs to scary ones.

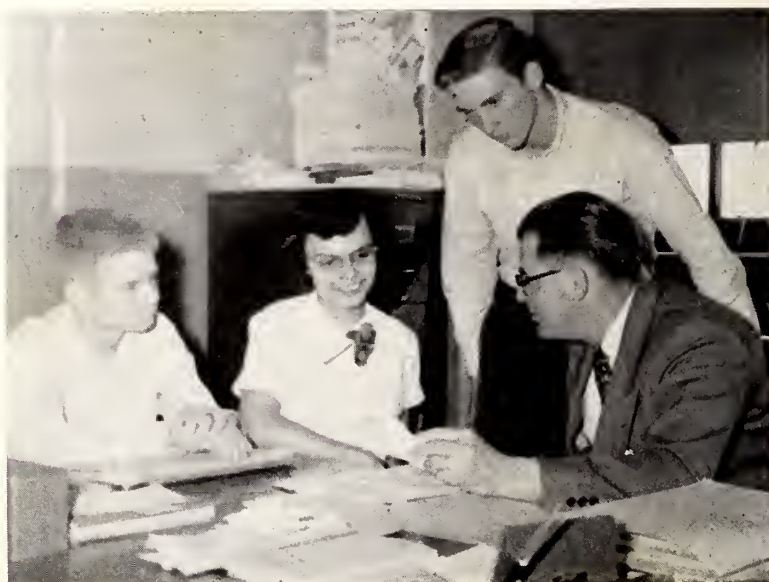

Blonchard Smith, Edith Ann Shodley, and Wolter Houck discuss Student Council affairs with Mr. Richard Apple, Counselor.

A new organization, not exactly classed as a club, is the Student Council.

A great deal of ground work had to be done this year before the council really went into effect.

In December, Blanchard Smith, Edith Ann Shadley, Walter Houck, and Mr. Richard Apple, accompanied by Christianna Wolf, Donna Wykoff, Mrs. Elizabeth Crider, and Mrs. Gordon Harker, went to Shortridge to gather information to present to the school.

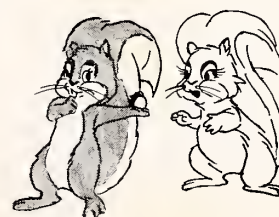

The faculty and student body accepted the Student Council by an overwhelming majority.

Glenn McDaniel, Jim Dearmin, and Blanchard Smith, carried a pony bank around school, the week before Christmas vacation, to secure donations for Clothe-A-Child. This was one of many projects carried on by Hi-Y during the year.

Booster Club members formed a yelling section at games and earned money for sports equipment through projects.

Dances, and the sale of belts and bracelets, provided funds for duffle bags for members of the varsity basketball team and paid part on markers for the football field and a "batting cage" for baseball.

One hundred dollars was given for the purchase of new uniforms for yell leaders.

We became Spaniards

The Spanish Club, which goes by the name of El Revezo, has 45 members. This year they followed one of the regular Mexican customs by breaking a piñata, a plaster image filled with Christmas goodies.

A native of Mexico, and a long-time resident of Chile, South America, spoke at meetings held by the club.

In the spring a typical Mexican chili supper gave El Revezo people a taste, literally, of the type of food eaten by their friends below the border.

Spanish Club officers Linda Thomas, Barbara Rudolph, and Judy Blackmore sing Christmas carol in Spanish.

Service is our motto in Hi-Y

Hi-Y, a junior group of the national Young Men's Christian Association, is probably one of the most active of our clubs.

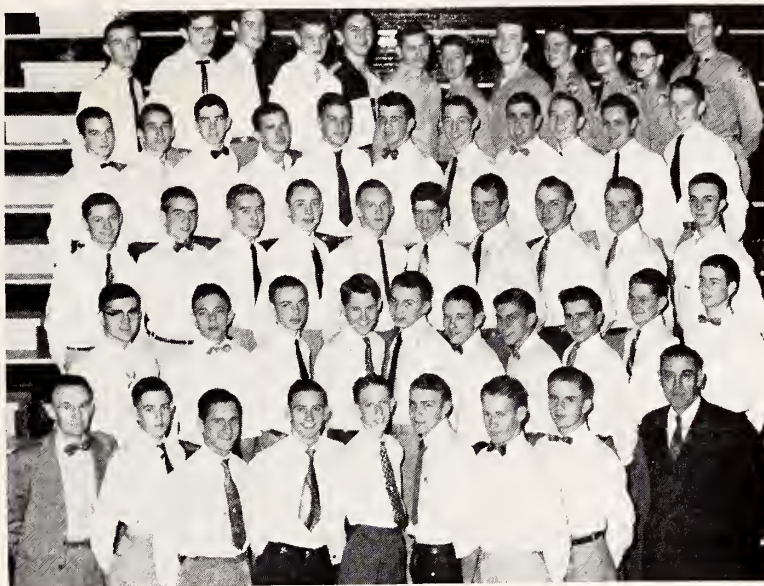

Panel discussions on boys' problems are part of their regular program at meetings.

Such speakers as Phillip Bayt, judge, and ex-mayor of Indianapolis, who talked on bad business practices in the city, Lt. Harry Bailey of the juvenile division of the police force, who talked on the growth in juvenile delinquency, and Harry Liddle, state secretary of the Y.M.C.A., gave practical help to the boys.

At Christmas, Hi-Y clothed and fed 15 people. Thanksgiving turkey was served to parents.

Contributions to World Service (at least $75 yearly), to the new building fund for a west side Y.M.C.A., to palsy, T.B., Red Cross, and polio funds were worthy causes sponsored by the group.

Hi-Y boys took part in a United Nations program and helped distribute posters for a Y.M.C.A. membership drive.

We Believe . . .

Morning Devotions was a vital part of the day for some of us. As we met in 215 every morning, sang, and read the Bible, we prepared ourselves for the day ahead.

Wilma Warren, Ruth Hornback are two of those who believe in being on the right side of Life.

Math students took the first few letters of their subjects — trigonometry, algebra, and geometry and came up with a name — Trialge for their club.

Each year the members trim the cafeteria Xmas tree with geometrical figures.

This year the club sponsored a field trip to the Indiana National Bank on March 16.

The last meeting is a pitch-in dinner in honor of outstanding freshmen in Algebra. Certificates are given the newcomer.

Trialge Club officers Barbara Dreyer, secretary; Bob Hughes, vice president, and Blanchard Smith, president, gather around as they trim the Christmas tree in the cafeteria. It is a job the club performs annually. Treasurer Dwight Abbott is not shown.

Officers were Phyllis Poe, vice president; Joan Bothwell, secretary; Carolyn Byrkett, president; and Gary Conger, treasurer.

Seated—Carolyn Byrkett, Phyllis Poe, Gary Conger, and Joan Bothwell. Standing—Nancy Wilson, Ronald Bryant, Marilyn Stoute, Shirley Brown, Ann Bowman, Jim

Quill and Scroll, an international society for high school journalists, was founded at the University of Iowa, April 10, 1926.

A group of teachers of journalism wished to recognize and reward worthy high school journalists.

To be made a member, a student must be in the upper third of his high school class scholastically, must have done distinctive work in some phase of high school journalism, must be recommended by the adviser, and approved by the Quill and Scroll executive board.

Eleven hundred high school Thespians in the world are organized for the advancement of the dramatic arts.

Our aim of the society is to develop in youth an appreciation of the theater, motion pictures, radio, and television. The organization urges its most talented members to continue in the profession.

The national Thespian Society was established in 1929 at Fairmont College, West Virginia.

The Ben Davis chapter was established in 1938 with 12 charter members. Mrs. Ball was their sponsor.

The first play directed by her was "Battling Betty Ann."

Outstanding plays staged at the school during the 4 years we have been in school have been "Life with Father," "All My Sons," "Cheaper by the Dozen," "Room for One More," "The Curious Savage," "One Foot in Heaven," "The Robe," and "Harvey."

Acting was our pleasure . . .

Along with acting, the Dramatic Club members and Thespians obtain experience in stage craft, costuming, make-up, and lighting. As they gather this experience they develop such personal traits as responsibility, co-operation, concentration and imagination.

Mrs. Elsie Ball demonstrates on Ivan Jones the proper technique of applying make-up for stage use. Gene Blythe and Joyce Hera laughingly watch the operation.

Sunshine officers included Shirley Nachoff, recording secretary; Nancy Hayes, vice president;

Pat Van Strohe, president; Ruthann Schuh, treasurer, and Sue Dunn, point secretary.

We learn to think of others first . . .

The Sunshine Society was originated in Crawfordsville, Indiana, in 1912. Its idea grew from a Sunday school class which decided to improve the community and help the sick. Ben Davis' own society was started by Mrs. Esther Williams Steindorf in 1932 and its size has grown to nearly 300 members.

This year's projects consisted of contributing to the Riley Hospital Fund, helping a needy family, and also running a booth for the PTA's benefit at the annual Fall Festival. Our meetings were always interesting, for the programs were based on the problems and questions of high school girls.

The gym was transformed into Neptune's Kingdom when the annual dance took place and it turned out to be both beautiful and successful.

SPQR—Senatus, Populesque, Romanus—is the first club ever to be formed at Ben Davis.

Now in its 25th year, the Latin Club had its beginning in the old junior building when it housed all the high school.

During the school year, members initiate new members with a scary trip through the Roman underworld.

Election of officers is held exactly as it was in ancient Rome. Around Christmas, the club celebrates the Saturnalia, and the big spring event is the Roman banquet.

At the May meeting, the Romans have a pitch-in dinner and are entertained with a play given by the Cicero classes.

On Honor Day, SPQR provides certificates for those who are high in their group.

We are the people who are the soul of Ben Davis—the students and the faculty. Our loyalty and our love is what makes our school more than just a group of buildings.

For a long period of time the faculty personnel at our school changed very little. But this year many new people joined us.

Charles Vance, principal for 34 years, retired last summer and his place was taken by Madison T. Shadley, coming to us from Fleming Gardens grade school.

Other replacements and additions were Mrs. Vivian Summeier, Mr. Donald Sargent, Mrs. Elizabeth Van Lieu, Mr. Ralph Chandler, Mr. Marion Fine, Mr. Howard Williams, Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt, and Mr. Richard Apple.

Our Faculty Increased to 60

In shop we make articles of all kinds, shapes, and sizes, such as bird houses, lawn chairs, and footstools.

We learn that tools are useful and constructive when used properly but dangerous and destructive when used improperly.

Shop provides the opportunities for development of fundamental shop skills and an appreciation which will serve as a basis for further vocation training and advancement.

Keith Townsend, David Sloan, and Dennis Duke use some of the shop machines.

We at Ben Davis, were fortunate in having teachers who were, for the most part, our friends. They were sincerely interested in our progress and were unhappy if we did not do the best of which we were capable.

Sometimes we failed to realize this. But usually, down in our hearts we knew they were right when they scolded us, and were happy when they praised us.

In enrollment numbers and size of buildings, we are as large as a big city school. But in closeness to one another and our teachers we keep the small school touch.

Home Economics teaches us to be better wives and mothers. We learn to cook and sew with skill and ease. We also learn how to raise children to be healthy individuals in mind and body. We learn to administer first aid in case of emergencies. Our course in marriage and family living teaches us how to have a happy home. Here Janice Nihiser and Carolyn Shoulders watch as Miss Harriet Wilkinson adjusts a pattern.

The dictionary defines economics as "conditions and laws affecting the distribution and consumption of wealth or material means of satisfying human desires." We are most interested in the homemaker budgets we make for one or two persons.

We also discuss life situations and give short talks on economic problems.

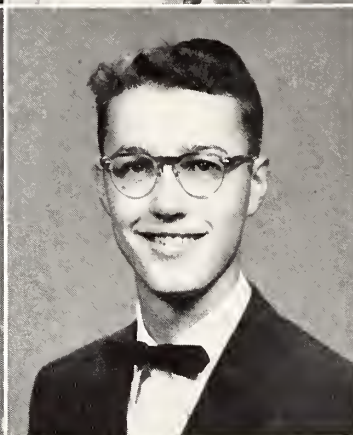

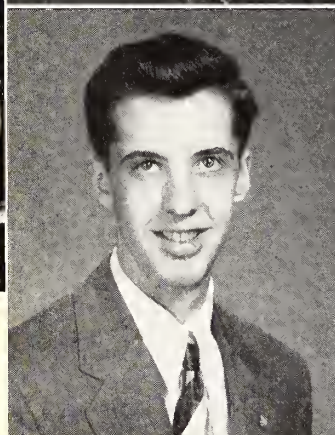

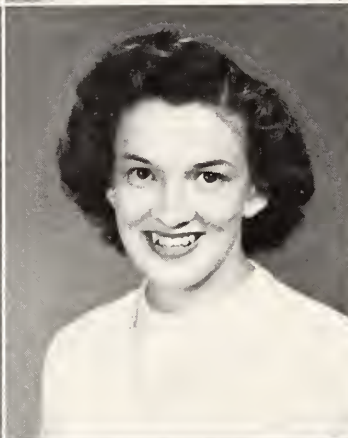

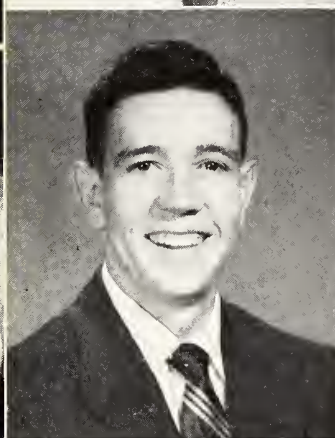

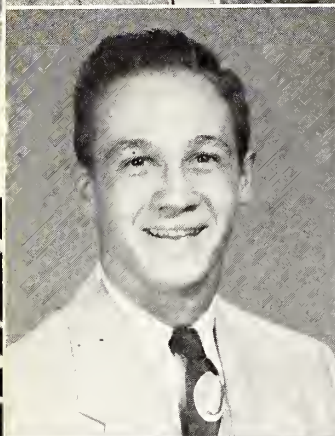

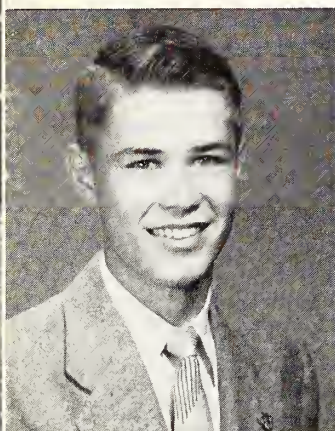

Here Carolyn Cole and Delores Spencer talk to Mr. Walls about their budgets.

Mechanical drawing classes learned the fundamentals of perspective and the type of sketching that could be used for architectural plans.

Roy Jones, Richard Hignite, and Carl Hatch concentrate on drawing.

We Are Beginning A New Life

When schools in Wayne Township became desperately overcrowded, the 8th grade moved into the junior building along with the 9A's. Here they go through the same type of routine they later face in Wayne Central and the senior building. For these folks, high school is really 5 years. And through careful counseling, they face the four upper levels with a better knowledge of what they want to study.

The Keyhole Alphabet

BOTHWELL, JOAN—This is her third year on a Keyhole staff. She helped sell ads, organized sales campaigns and the distribution of books. She and Marilyn Stoute planned the advertising section.

BRYANT, RONALD—Kept a permanent record of everything that went on in Room 206—everything but the conversation, that is. Also—all money making projects were carried on by Ronnie, such as the student directory, the valentine flower sale, the Hillbilly Hop, and the distribution of "little pictures."

Perhaps his most important job—from the standpoint of the girls—was to go to the drug-store to get food to give them strength for long after school sessions.

BYRKETT, CAROLYN—Her work started at Indiana University last July when she and Phyllis Poe planned and drew up the 1954 Keyhole. In September the actual work started. By Christmas Carolyn and Phyllis, co-editors, were spending many hours of overtime in an effort to make this annual the best Ben Davis had ever had. Perhaps the most amazing part of this book is that these two girls did such a good job—practically nothing had to be changed later.

CONGER, GARY—Worked on the athletic section along with Don Tobias, scheduling pictures, sending them to the engraver, and finally writing the editorial content.

DUNN, SUE—Worked on the editorial content with Edith Ann Shadley. She also wrote the editorial part of the student directory, a project of the publications department.

KNARR, RICHARD—For three years, cartoons by Knarr have added to the appearance of both the Spotlight and the Keyhole. This boy has an amazing talent and can produce a clever drawing at the drop of a hat. His sassy little squirrels appealed greatly to the staff.

Because of his long service in publications and his cheerful cooperation, Richard was given the Merle Sidener award for an outstanding journalist.

POE, PHYLLIS—Cheerfully stayed night after night to work on the Keyhole. She, along with Carolyn Byrkett, did an excellent job of planning the yearbook at Indiana University, receiving an honorable mention, comparable to a third prize, for their efforts.

EDITH ANN SHADLEY—Received a varied training in yearbook work this year in preparation for a possible editorship next year. She helped Joan with an advertising skit, assisted in checking circulation figures, and helped arrange distribution. Later she worked with Sue Dunn on the editorial content and assisted in typing many of the pages of the annual.

SPEARS, NANCY—Assisted Ronnie Bryant with projects and record keeping. Always willing to help with other pages when needed.

STOUTE, MARILYN—Assisted Joan with advertising and circulation. Typed when needed. Helped with senior pictures.

TOBIAS, DON—Was co-editor of the sports section with Gary Conger. Scheduled pictures and prepared them for the engraver.

TOWNSEND, ROSEMARY—Worked on scheduling senior pictures, and took charge of the wearisome job of preparing underclassmen pictures.

KEILMAN, MRS. KATHLEEN—Was the sponsor who sighed in anticipation of a strenuous winter when school started, and sighed with relief in the spring when the annual was safely delivered to all its purchasers. She spent a busy nine months, alternately nagging and cheering, shared her staff's worries and successes, stayed late with the workers, and usually decided the book was worth all the hard work after all.

B.D. SCHOOL SONG

The musical score is written on seven staves. The first staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and a 6/8 time signature. The melody starts with a forte (f) dynamic and includes a sforzando (sfz) marking. The second staff features a squirrel character lying down. The third staff shows the squirrel sitting up. The fourth staff has the squirrel standing and holding a nut, with another sfz marking. The fifth staff shows the squirrel lying down again with 'Zzz' above it. The sixth staff continues the melody. The seventh staff contains the lyrics: 'A IS EQUAL TO A, AND A STANDS FOR A, WHILE A IS THE SAME AS A'. The score concludes with a double bar line and a circled 'X'.

THE SCHOOL SONG IS AN EXCERPT FROM "THE STEIN SONG" BY COLCORD AND FENSTAD. THIS IS FROM THE ARRANGEMENT BY LESTER BROCKTON. THIS IS THE ARRANGEMENT FOR THE OBOE, NOT THE PIANO...
